

TECHWORKERS ASSET MANAGEMENT SOLUTION

The sensible way to make sense of your network

If yours is a large, complex IT network, then you'll understand how difficult it is to know exactly what equipment you have, what state it's in, where it is and the status of its warranty contracts. Effective and comprehensive asset management, done the right way, can allow your company to improve asset utilization, reduce risk and boost savings. But dedicating your own staff to the task is a drain on your organization and a distraction from your core activities.

- Greater understanding of installed base and more accurate analytics
- Enhanced network performance and lower network risk
- Organizational optimization leading to cost savings
- Improved lifecycle management of equipment
- Optimized compliance and coverage

A unique combination of data sources provides a complete picture of your assets and contracts

Scaling for your business

We can provide the staff augmentation capabilities to do the job for you. Our long-term relationships with clients, including well-known global tech conglomerates, have equipped us with the data mining expertise and tools to provide full, proactive management of your product inventory, as well as managing location and service coverage information.

The result is improved organizational optimization, operational efficiency, business continuity, and the ability to make smarter decisions about your network and your business. Allowing our team of experts to take on the complexities of asset management also results in big savings thanks to operational optimization.

A comprehensive service for complex networks

Techworkers Asset Management gives you full proactive management of all your inventory, its service coverage information and precise location. The service breaks down into three areas:

Establishing and maintaining your inventory

- Staff augmentation allows you to enjoy the benefits of more in-depth asset management with full organizational optimization
- Standardized procedures help identify all products and associated location and service coverage information
- 'Move, add, change and delete' (MACD) activities become easier to coordinate, follow up and validate

Providing analytics and consulting

- Insightful reports and analyses enable smarter decision making
- You benefit from in-depth business and customer process reviews
- Data on inventory issues, such as compliance, service coverage, co-termination and location, becomes actionable information

Optimizing coverage

- Benefit from contract analysis, clean-up and simplification
- Choose between selective or full-coverage options
- Take advantage of high-level MACD processes and governance to ensure optimal performance

The Techworkers difference

Our expertise in asset management is unmatched in the market thanks to the quality of our experts, a long-term commitment to the field, investment in state-of-the-art systems and unique access to equipment data.

As a result, we can offer you a service which saves you money while equipping your staff and management with the information they need to efficiently plan and budget for new product investments, migrations and technology refreshes.
